PROGRAM NOTES

TO THOSE WHO SERVE is in the style of a concert march, but has a different "road map." Instead of the marches common to the "Sousa" era (introduction, first strain, second strain, trio, "dogfight" and return to the trio), this composition is in a more contemporary format. The main theme is introduced by horns and alto saxophones and proceeds with varied instrumental colors, through the related minor key and then back to the original theme with a flourish at the finish. It has rhythmical and melodic impact.

This composition is written for The Villages Concert Band in Lady Lake, Florida and dedicated to the memory of James O. Pierce, the founder of the band.

NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR

Keeping the rhythms crisp and clean will insure the overall effect of this composition. The background rhythm parts found in the alto saxophone, horn, trombone and percussion parts are important for rhythmical security, but should play a secondary part in the interpretation.

Note the constant changes in dynamic levels which is intended to give the piece a variety of band colors. Change the levels to accommodate your ensemble, but make the changes throughout all sections to keep the levels in their original perspective. Save your loudest sounds for the final eight measures.
