

PERFORMANCE NOTES

“Sicut Cervus” is one of the most widely performed pieces by Renaissance composer Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina. (We generally consider the Renaissance period in music to be between the years 1450-1600.) The piece is a motet, which is an a cappella choral work with a religious or liturgical text. Written in Latin, the text is based on Psalm 42:1. An English translation has not been written in the music, as I feel that these classic pieces should only be performed in their original language.

Palestrina was born in the town of Palestrina (hence, Giovanni Pierluigi, of or from Palestrina) in 1525, lived most of his life in Rome, and died there in 1594. Palestrina wrote hundreds of choral pieces, was an organist, and for a time was the choirmaster at St. Peter’s Basilica.

Palestrina’s original work was written for four voices in the key of F major. Every attempt has been made to keep the original beauty of Palestrina’s classic work while making it more accessible for treble voices.

Sing its beautiful melodic lines freely and with pure vowels.
